We truly need more choices, as Microsoft is continually shoving their products down our throats by constantly coming out with "newer" products that you must upgrade to, just to stay "current". Window 98 is enough for the home user..Windows 2000 is enough for a road warrior, Windows XP is too much...yet you cannot buy a new system without getting XP, which is not an improvement, it just makes more money and gives more control to Microsoft.

Don't let Microsoft monopolize the online access and Internet too!
